

Project pre-proposal

CSCI 110 Section 1

Due Monday Sept 19, 2016 at 11:59 pm

Come up with five ideas for your project this semester. Write 3-4 sentences pitching each idea. You'll want to think of ideas that are small but significant. This should be a project you're motivated to build.

If you're a computer science major or minor, this is a chance to get a peek at a CS specialization e.g. figuring out if text messages are happy or sad (natural language processing) or putting together a simple game (user experience design). If you're not, you might come up with ideas that are useful in your everyday life e.g. a browser extension to automatically wish your friends happy birthday.

Submit a document with your five ideas to Canvas.

Example of one idea:

TreeFriends is a website for tree climbers to schedule meetups. Users can create profiles and create "events" that they can invite other users to. A calendar view will be available so that people can see upcoming tree climbing meetups that they might want to attend.
